

Ad Man
Ron Lynch Chalice 4-25-86 Revised 7-16-93

If you can pinch an inch then you belong to me
Owning you is a cinch
I'm an ad man can't you see

CHORUS:

Ad man, Ad man, Advertising Man
Ad man, I'm an Ad man, Advertising
Ad man, Ad man, Advertising Man
Ad man, Ad man, sell everything I can

CSECT:

You're paying a price, for my expensive advice
it's added on to everything you buy
Athletes and rock superstars, all own dozen's of cars
You have to have their name on your necktie

I am gonna control your life
I'll own your every waking hour
I don't need a gun or a knife
'Cause I know your purchasing power

DSECT:

By the time I'm through with you, little honey
You'll be begging me to take your money

CSECT:

You're paying a price, for my expensive advice
Look around at everything you see.
Everything from fad kitchen toys, to books on sexual joys
Don't you know you can't get away from me

I study demographics til late at night
I know just what you think you need
I will tell you what to buy
I just have to plant the seed

CHORUS
