

Lolly
Ron Lynch Chalice 5-15-93 Revised 7-1-93

Life's a bitch, so they say, it can be hard gettin' on today Each day's a struggle, full of toil and tears but livin's still better than dyin', if it's dyin' you fear Can you ever turn the corner, can you ever get ahead Can you run away from the tax man, before you are dead

CHORUS:

Before I gave a damn about politics, before I got a job and learned about greed,
I had Lolly in a Ford behind her daddy's barn, takin' care of primal needs

Look around, when you wake, the whole world is yours to take Step up to the plate, take a real big swing
If you reach out far enough, you can catch the brass ring Go ahead and try, you really can't lose Each day's full of dozens of different ways to choose

If in the end, you haven't won the prize, procrastination, excuses and lies Pick up the pieces, start all over again only you can determine if you lose or if you win Behind all the pressure, outside the daily grind you can lay back and think of the old pleasant times

Before I gave a damn about politics,
before I got a job and learned about greed,
I had Lolly in a Ford behind her daddy's barn,
takin' care of primal needs