

WHAT YOU HAVE
Ron Lynch Chalice 6-3-86

Directions, Directions, so many ways to go Choices, choices, why do decisions come so slow Attitudes, attitudes, which are right and which are wrong Well I've come to tell you something I think you've known all along I don't want to know everything that you have
In your life that I can't see but there's one little thing you will always have
and that one little thing is me

CHORUS:

Love is backing off when you need to Love is hanging on tightly when you must Love is doing all the things that you have to do to establish a homestead in trust Love is sharing the time away as well as the time together I'm not sure that I know what love is but I know that I'll love you forever

Inside, outside, what feelings can you share Upside, downside, there's a risk to everything that you dare Turn around, upside down, why is everything so confused Life has a way of making you feel that you're always being used
I don't want to know everything that you have
In your life that I can't see
but there's one little thing you will always have
and that one little thing is me

Positive, Negative, nothing is black and white Sunshine, Moonshine, it's time that you see the light Take time, Make time, make sure that what you're doing's okay
Sometime, the time will be right to know that you can fly away
I don't want to know everything that you have
In your life that I can't see
but there's one little thing you will always have
and that one little thing is me
